Hoosiers Afflicted with Another Batting Streak That Won.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. KANSAS CITY, June 13 .- The Hoosiers were out to break records to-day, and as a consequence the Blues again went down todefeat. For the first time this season Sharsig's men have won two games in succession and won a majority of the series with another team. While the Blues did not put much animation in the game, it was not their errors which defeated them so much as the hard and timely hitting of the Hoosiers, who appeared to be able to smash the ball whenever they wanted to. They gave Eiteljorg a royal dressing down, touching him up for sixteen safe hits and a total of twenty-four bases. Letcher led the stick-work with a single, a double and a home-run, and he was ably assisted by Genips, Sullivan, Madden and Nagle. In the field the Hoosiers did some splendid work, and some that was not so brilliant. Hick Carpenter having been summoned to his home in Massachusetts by the sad in-telligence of the death of his mother, his place at third base was taken by Quinn, whose catch of Enteljorg's hard line hit right at him was the feature of the game.

The Blues could not gauge Sutlivan's delivery with any degree of success, making but six scattered bits in the game. In the field their play was without life or ambition, seeining to feel the shadow of defeat. It was one, two, three for the Blues in the first inning, and the Rain-makers could do no better, though they bad men on second and third. In the second ioning the Blues scored the first run of the game, Carney making first on Berger's wild throw, and following it with a steal of second, and finishing the circuit on sacritices by McMahan and Payne. In the third the visitors forged ahead with two runs which they secured by means of a single by Sullivan, a double by Genins and a single by Berger. In the first half of the fourth the Blues also accumulated a pair and went into the lead for a minute. A single by Carney, a base on balls to Me-Mahon and a sacrifice by Payne, after which a wild throw by Sallivan and a single by Alberts sent in the runs. In their half the Hoosiers batted out three runs and again took the lead. The runs were scored after two were out on a single by Sullivan, doubles by Letcher and Genins and Sun-day's muft of O'Brien's fly.

For the Blues, in the sixth, Payne hit to center for a clean homer, and in the seventh Manning scored the tieing run on his single and a double by Sunday. The score remained a tie until the last half of the eighth, when the Hoosiers struck another terrific streak of bitting and batted out four earned runs, which proved to be enough to win and to spare. With one out Nagle started the trouble by hitting safely to center. Lawrence drove him home with his three-bagger to left and scored himself on a single by Sullivan. Letcher kept up the fun by smashing the bail away down in center field for a home-run and Genins also hit safely, but was left. The score:

SUSPICIOUS LEAGUE MEETING.

Evidence That Several of the Clubs May Kick Over the Traces.

NEW YORK, June 13 .- Nearly all the men prominent in directing the affairs of base-ball in the country met at the Fifthavenue Hotel this atternoon to settle, if possible, the spirit of discontent that exists at present in the New York and one or two other clubs, owing to what they consider an unfair distribution of the best players. President N. E. Young, of the National League, presided. The New York team needs a catcher, second baseman and one or two out-fielders, and they claim that Boston and Brooklyn have enough good material lying idle to strengthen their team if the transfer can be arranged. It was 6 o'clock before the meeting adjourned, and the magnates said that everything had been harmonious. The business done was the adoption of means to curtail expenses and to make up for the loss incurred by the past unfavorable weather. The clubs agreed to cut down the number of players to thirteen and fourteen, instead of seventeen and eighteen, as heretofore, so that their expenses will not be so great. The surplus players will be placed in charge of the president of the League, N. E. Young, who will hold them subject to last longer than until the fall and the busy ball season opens. The assessments of the clubs were also increased from 10 to 121/2 per cent. in order to pay off the debt of the American Association. Mr. Byrne, of Brooklyn, stated that nothing was said against the twelve-club league, but the clubs were stronger now than ever before. None asked for help, and every one was willing to carry out the scheme. It was claimed that no other busi-

Young will then distribute them where he

JACKSON GETS FIVE YEARS

He Was Convicted Yesterday of Stealing $53 from Fred Hergt's Meat Market.

He Told a Very Flimsy Tale on the Stand-Receiver's Suit-Change of V-nue to Hamilton Coun y-Other Cases in Court

In the Criminal Court Walter Jackson was yesterday found guilty of grand larceny by acting Judge Henry N. Spaan. Jackson was arrested for stealing $53 from Fred Hergt's meat market, on East Washington street. He was seen by citizens when he was leaving the store and chased to a chicken coop near the ball park and the money found in the coop where he had hidden it. On the witness-stand yesterday Jackson told the thinnest story that was ever advanced as an explanation. He said he had had nothing to eat for two or three days, and he asked a man on the street for some money to get something to eat and the man gave him $53. He went into Hergt's place to buy some bologna, but after he had got into the shop the idea flashed upon him that the man must have stolen the money and that he probably stole it in that very shop, so he thought he had better run and hide it, because if it was found on him he would be accused of stealing it. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, the court remarking that three years of the penalty was intended as a punishment for the perjury committed by him in his testimony.

All Over a Coat Moses Silberstein brought suit before Squire Habich, yesterday, to replevin a coat and vest from one Libowitz, a secondhand clothing dealer on East Washington street. Silberstein works in Cline's second-hand store, on Massachusetts avenue. Several days ago three fellows came into Cline's place while Cline was absent, and told Silberstein they wanted to buy a coat and vest. Several garments were shown, but none of them suited. Shortly after the three men left a coat and vest were missed. A few days afterward Cline was passing Libowitz's place on East Washington street, and saw the coat hanging out in front. He told Libowitz the coat belonged to him, and demanded it. Libo-witz said he had given $2 for the coat, and if Cline would pay him back the 82 he could have the coat. They then entered into some kind of an agreement by which each was to stand part of the loss. Cline returned to his store and sent Silberstein after the coat. When he demanded the coat of Libowitz, the latter demanded the money agreed to be given. Silberstein refused, and didn't get the coat. The defense set up by Libowitz in the replevin suit is that there was no sufficient demand for the goods. 'Squire Habich decided in favor of the plaintiff, and gave Silberstein possession of the coat. Libowitz appealed from the judgment, and will take the case to the Circuit Court.

CHICKAMAUGA MONUMENT.

Wilder's Brigade Will Freet One on that Fameus Fattle-Field.

A meeting of the monument committee of Wilder's Brigade was held at the Bates House yesterday. Four different designs for the monument were shown by General Wilder, who has been interesting himself in the matter. The one selected has an elevation of 110 feet, has a square base and a round column. There is to be a spiral inside stairway. The monament is to be placed on the Chickamaugs battle-field at the Widow Glenn's house, or as near as the park commissioners will admit.

General Wilder was requested to take general supervision of the construction of the monument, make necessary contracts and hasten the construction, so as to have the structure ready for unveiling at the time set for the coming brigade reunion, to be held on the Chickamauga battle-field Sept. 15 and 16.

The monument is somewhat after the style of the Miles Standish monument, which cost $27,000, but the cest of this is not to exceed $25,000. It will be of white limestone, quarried on the battle-field. One hundred and twenty-five men will be put at work immediately, and it will be rushed through to completion. There will be tablets placed on the monument either of white marble or polished granite, one for each regiment, one for the battery and one for the brigade.

There will be a vault inside the monnment of bronze or steel, with several different compartments, with doors and locks; and each regiment and battery will have a compartment in which to file papers, muster-rolls or whatever they may desire. There will be a government custodian there all the time to take charge of the monument and see that no depredations are committed. Around the top of the structure will be a balcony three feet high, from which a wide view of the surroundings may be taken. The top of the monument will probably be capped with copper.

Among those present at the meeting yesterday were Gen. A. O. Miller, Seventysecond Indiana, Lebanon, who presided; H. W. Tutewiler, Seventeenth Indiana, city, secretary; Gen. John T. Wilder, Johnson City, Tenn., treasurer; Maj. A. Cantwell, Seventeenth Indiana, Johnson City, Tenn.; W. P. Herron, Seventy-second Indiana, Crawfordsville: Capt. H. B. Collins. MONUMENT COMMISSION.

It Meets to Tras sac Pr ss ng Busine s-Time of Bidding Extended.

The monument commissioners yesterday xtended the time for receiving bids for the war and peace groups to Sept. 7. The reason was imperative from the fact that the time first set, July 1, would not allow the artists desiring to compete to complete their models. The commissioners had the alternative of having no bids to open July 1, or of extension of the time, and chose the latter. The artists who asked for the extension, stated that as they studied the subjects they grew in importance, and absolutely required more time. The commissioners have assurances of proposals from an artist in Berlin, one in Paris, from Brewster, and several other American ar-

William Sawyer, a colored man about thirty-five years of age, ran into No. 6 engine house, on West Washington street, last night and begged that the firemen protect him from persons who he said were after him to kill hun. He said that at short intervals his heart would swell up and make a loud noise which aggravated the people that were trying to kill him. Sawyer has just been released from the City Hospital, where he had been confined since January, on account of a broken leg received by falling on the curb at the corner of Meridian and Circle streets. Sergeant Laporte and officers Griffin and Pope took charge of him and sent him to the station-house.

and oppose the outrage. Resolved, That public servants who show their unfaithfulness to one trust are unworthy of another. We therefore call upon all who believe in the rule of the people to defeat the present com-missioners in all future political aspirations.

C. H. MINER. W. J. SMITH.

Henry Gale, a delegate from the carpenters, who does a great deal of work for the County Commissioners, moved that the report be received and laid on the table. It was not allowed to be discussed, and the motion prevailed by a vote of 15 to 13, a number not understanding the motion and not voting. M. shall end a day's labor in their calling, and that service rendered after said hour shall be deemed extra service, entitling the employe to extra pay; and that July 1, 1892, shall be the date fixed for carrying the above into full force and effect. Be Resolved. That the Central Labor Union hereby requests each and every local union, through its proper officers and committees, to use their influence in requiring all dry-goods merchants and employers to agree to this demand, noting in particular those that may oppose it; and that each union publish their action on this matter, giving it all the weight and prestige required.

Confidence in the Managers. Boston Transcript (Ind.)

The ticket will, we have no doubt, consolidate the Republican party and thus place it in a commanding position. President Harrison's managers have shown themselves this week to be abundantly able to direct a campaign.

What Carl Schuez Thinks.

New York Post. The nomination is a very strong one if the Democrats do not nominate the man most desired by the people—the most pop-ular Democrat. If this Democrat is nominated the Harrison ticket will be found to be a weak one.
